NEW BARBER SHOP.

When you wish an easy shave,
As good as barber ever gave,
Just call on us at our saloon
At morning, eve or noon;
We cut and dress the hair with grace,
To suit the contour of the face.
Our room is neat and towels clean,
Scissors sharp and razors keen,
And everything we think you'll find;
To suit the face and please the mind,
And all our art and skill can do,
If you just call, we'll do for you.

THE EDITOR'S CHAIR.

HOW THINGS LOOK FROM OUR STAND POINT.

The Opinion of The Editor and the Opinion of Others which we Can Endorse on the Various Topics of the Day.

Three-tenths of the men who are fighting the Sub-Treasury plan do so by attempting to ridicule some proposed detail for putting the plan into operation. Before you discuss the points of detail, first ask him how he stands on the principle on which the plan is based. Ask him if he favors a larger and a piyable volume of money. A currency based on ou labor and the products of labor, as well as on on other securities, and money at a low rate of interest—a rate not higher than the average profits of wealth produces. You will find in nearly every case, in fact in every case, that man will in the bottom of his heart be opposed to the above principles. Then make him discuss the principles, for why discuss the character of a plan with a man who is opposed to the principles of the plan? Why does he dodge the principles of the plan? Because it is easier to reduce details than to answer just principles. Whenever you find an intelligent, honest and fair-minded man opposed to the Sub-Treasury plan, he has not read and carefully studied the principles of the plan, but was suffering from the biased view of newspapers or others who had a purpose in misrepresenting the plan, or else were as ignorant of it as he himself.

The Alliance in its demands asks for tariff reform, and in the end will have it; but the reforms it demands are not of the same kind that Mr. Mills and his friends would have. When the Alliance begins it reforms in that line it will strike down any and all monopolies and wipe out all unjust burdens of taxation, whether found in New England, New York or any other section of the country. It will not inquire into the political effect af this or that measure, but will be guided by the one idea, is it right? Will it lessen the burdens of the people and result in the benefit of all? This is the character of the tariff reform demanded by the Alliance, and the one it will urge until adopted, when other measures have been settled.—National Economist.

AND WE HAVE IT TO PAY.

As time progresses the fearful havoc made by Confederate bullets upon the Federal armies becomes more and more apparent. Commissioner of Pensions Raum has already granted about 800,000 claims for pensions, and says he has 900,000 more on file. Of these latter he says, fully half a million are original claims. Every man, woman and child capable of carrying a musket in the South during the war must have winged a Yankee.—Philadelphia Record.

It takes $118,548,959 per year to keep those pensions up, and we must help pay the bill.

WHAT IT IS AND WHAT IT IS TRYING TO DO.

The Alliance is a powerful organization for political resistance to political wrong and injustice. It was inspired with the thought in which the higher liberties of the people have often had their birth—the redress of grievances. It was made necessary as a means of resistance to legalized monopoly, to legalized tax robbery, to trusts that sprung up everywhere to choke down business rivalry and honest competition, and to the accumulated advantages given to the corporations and combines by the legislation of the country. It was the first grand effort of the farmers to combine in resistance to others who had combined for aggression upon them.

The Knoxville Tribune says:

"Elliott Shepard developes into 'more kinds of damn fool' the older he grows. In addition to being America's champion ass he is the most cowardly knave on the continent."

THE INDIANA ALLIANCE.

Preparations Made for the Approaching National Convention.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Oct. 23.—The State Farmers' Alliance closed a three days' secret session this evening by the election of delegates to the National Convention in November. To-day resolutions were adopted indorsing the Ocala and St. Louis platforms; demanding the abolition of the National Bank issues of currency and the issue of legal tender notes to be loaned according to the Sub-Treasury plan. The following programe for the meeting here of National Alliance was adopted:

On the first day, Tuesday, November 17th, the addresses of welcome will be delivered at Tomlinson Hall, by Mayor Sullivan and President Force, of the State Alliance, and the responses will be by J. F. Tilman, National Secretary, and J. F. Willetts, Lecturer of the Alliance. The afternoon will be devoted to an executive session, and in the evening President L. L. Polk will deliver his address. On Wednesday addresses will be made by the President of F. M. B. A., National Lecturer J. F. Willetts, and in the afternoon the executive session will be continued. In the evening C. W. Macune and others will speak. Thursday morning Jerry Simpson and Alonzo Wardell will speak, and in the evening John P. Stelle and Mrs. Anna L. Briggs. Friday the forenoon addresses will be by I. H. Turner and B. H. Oliver, and in the evening T. F. Livingston, H. L. Loucks. Saturday J. H. McDowell, and Senator Peffer speak, and at night T. V. Powderly and Ben Terrell. Monday evening Ignatius Donnelly will address the Council, and on Tuesday, the last day, William Erwin, Mrs. Lease, R. M. Humphrey and J. B. Weaver will speak.

The following officers were elected this afternoon: Thos. W. Force, President; Mrs. Lou Snyder, Vice-President; Secretary, W. F. Prigg; Treasurer, Mrs. Sadie Bladenburg; State Lecturer, B. F. Horn; Chaplain, J. W. Nolan; State Organizer, Thamas S. East; Steward, G. N. Stoner.

FARMERS WANT BETTER MAIL FACILITIES.

Some of the Alliance organizations have been discussing the project of a free delivery of mail in the rural districts, a project which Postmaster General Wanamaker seems to favor. It has been tried in a limited experimental way and he says that the increased revenue of the country offices where it has been tried has more than paid the expenses of the delivery. The opinions of leading farmers have been sought and they favor it for many reasons. They say if they had free delivery and daily mails farmers would subscribe for daily as well as weekly papers, keep up with the markets and abreast of events, and by thus coming into close contact with the world much of the monotony of farm life would be done away with. As to the economy of the free delivery it is cheaper to have one man deliver the mail when there is anything to deliver, than to have one person from each farm ride to the postoffice to get a paper, or other mail, thus requiring many to do what could as well be done by one. It is a good project and the probabilities are that it will be presented for the consideration of the next Congress.

LIFT YOUR HAT TO HER.

Lift your hat reverently, says the New York Record, when you pass the teacher of the primary school. She is the great angel of the Republic. She takes the bantling fresh from the home dest, full of pout and passions—an ungovernable little wretch whose own mother honestly admits that she sends him to school to get rid of him. This lady, who knows her business, takes a whole carload of these little anarchists, one of whom single handed and alone, is more than a match for his parents, and at once puts them in a way of being useful and upright citizens. At what expense of toil and patience and soul weariness! Lift your hat to her.

THE METHODIST.

The great Ecumenical Conference of the world closed in Washington a few days ago. From their report it is learned that there had been an increase in the number of Methodist adherents of thirty per cent since the last Ecumenical Conference. The figures for the whole world, not yet entirely complete, were as follows:

	Ministers.	Members.	Adherents.
Europe,	4,481	915,284	4,209,601
Asia,	533	34,334	114,968
Africa,	294	17,147	283,376
Australia, and Polynesia,	786	93,140	488,138
America	36,601	5,380,50	20,281,976
Total,	42,695	6,494,309	25,378,104

FOOD FOR THOUGHT.

A COLUMN FOR THOSE WHO WILL READ AND THINK.

The South is poor, says Congressman Henderson, because enormous and unjust taxes are collected from her people by the Federal government. If North Carolina contributes her share of the taxes, she pays $12,000,000 annually into the Federal treasury, and so at the same rate the single county of Rowan should pay $200,000. We need an increase of the currency.—Mt. Home Journal.

A billion dollars, the amount appropriated by the last Congress is a large sum. Counting the rate of 200 a minute for twelve hours every day it would take 6.944 days, or about nineteen years, to count a billion. And this sum was collected largely from the labors to be given the rich.

Bank Capital.—On the first of March the state and municipal assessments are levied in San Francisco. In the last week in February the sub-treasury in that city received three millions in gold from the city banks giving non-taxable certificates for them. About five millions of money will escape taxation. The state and county will lose $100,000 in taxes. The middle and poorer classes can not escape their taxes by such artifices.—Ex.

CANADA ROUSING UP.

The uprising among the agricultural and laboring classes is not confined to the United States alone. Canada had 40 representatives at the Cincinnati conference, and while they could accomplish but little it indicated one thing plainly and that was that the laboring people of Canada were looking for light, and a gentleman who has lately returned from the Dominion, says the labor movement has grown so powerful that it is liable to bring about a crisis in the government in the near future.—New Era.

The man who expects to pay off a mortgage and get out of debt without an increase in the volume of the money circulation does not need to make any will when he dies.—Acorn.

Prosperity to the farmers and laborers means prosperity to every legitimate business. It is about time that merchants began to realize this fact and quit kicking against their own interests.—Missouri World.

FACTS WORTH REMEMBERING.

There are 3,000,000 tramps in the State.

There are 9,000,000 mortgaged homes in this country.

In New York 10,000 children starve to death every year.

We have 10,000,000 people who seldom get a good square meal.

Of the 2,000,000 people who live in New York only 13,000 own their homes.

And about 20,000,000 more will soon lose their homes by mortgage foreclosures.

In one precinct in New York twenty-seven murdered babies were found in six vaults.

In this land of the rich and home of the slave there are 38,000,000 people without homes.

There are 40,000 millionaires in the United States. About 1,000 of them live in New York.

In New York 40,000 working women forced to starve, seek charity or sell their bodies for bread

Mr. Darius Waterhouse, Chattanooga, Tenn., says: "It cost but little to try Bradycrotine, and a trial is all that is necessary to convince the doubting thousands that it will cure headache."

TWENTY MILLIONS STARVING.

Children Found Dead With Stomachs full of Rags and Earth.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 25.—The Novosti estimates that 20,000,000 people are without food. A poor woman of Ratchino, on returning home from a neighboring village, whither she had gone to try to purchase food, found all her children dead, and a post-mortem examination being made, their stomachs were found filled with rags and earth.

Many villages are completely deserted in the district of Perm. One-half of the population of Reazan has died of hunger or disease. An odious traffic is carried on in women's hair, the best heads realizing a crown apiece.

THE MONEY OX AND THE TARIFF OX.

The Baltimore Sun complains loudly of a recent campaign document, as it is pleased to call it, that Secretary Foster has issued in pamphlet form, on "Comparative Periods under the Old and New Tariffs." When the secretary issued a previous campaign document on the "Volume of Currency," the Sun published a greater portion of it and commended his wisdom. It makes a vast difference with the opinions of the Sun as to whose ox is being gored.—National Economist.

A Wonder Worker.

Mr. Frank Huffman, a young man of Burlington, Ohio, states that he had been under the care of two prominent physicians, and used their treatment until he was not able to get around. They pronounced his case to be Consumption and incurable. He was persuaded to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds and at that time was not able to walk across the street without resting. He found, before he had used half of a dollar bottle, that he was much better; he continued to use it and is to-day enjoying good health. If you have any Throat, Lung or Chest Trouble try it. We guarantee satisfaction. Trial bottle free at R. H. Holliday's drugstore, Clinton, and John R. Smith, druggist, Mt. Olive, N. C.

NATIONAL CAPITAL.

(Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 2.

"If Steve Elkins enters the Cabinet," said a Republican who knows his man well, "it will be to help Blaine and not to help Harrison as some people suppose. Elkins has more financial irons in the fire than any man I know, and you may be certain that he would not be willing to neglect them even temporarily if there were not some big political schemo to be worked up. Those who talk about his selling out Blaine for a Cabinet appointment simply expose their ignorance of the real relations between the two men."

There seems to be a hitch somewhere in the selection of Secretary Proctor's successor, as it is now announced that he may not leave the Cabinet until just before Congress meets. Some people are unkind enough to say that it is merely the natural thrift of the man, which causes him to wish to retain an $8,000 salary as long as possible before giving it up for one of only $5,000.

Another Southern city will be honored if some of the narrow minded breed do not cause Secretary Tracy to change his mind about naming Cruiser No. 9, the sistership to No. 10, launched at Baltimore day before yesterday, which has been named Detroit. Mr. Tracy has almost promised that No, 9 shall be named Mobile.

A number of National Banks in different sections of the country are doing business in violation of the law, by failing to substitute inserest bearing Government Bonds with the Treasurer of the United States as security for their circulation, in place of the 4½ per cent. bonds so held, which have ceased to bear interest. The Secretary of the Treasury has been easy with these offenders because he hoped to be able to persuade them to continue their expired 4½ per cents at 2 per cent, which would make them available as security for circulation. This is a little thing comparatively, but it gives an idea of the scheming done by Secretary Foster to get money to meet the obligations of the Tretsury as they mature. So far he has succeeded, but it is no secret here that he very much dreads the future when he shall have completely drained even all the small sources or supply.

Having made public its demands upod the Chilian Government on account of the robbing of American sailors at Valparaiso and been answered by Chilli's note of defiance, the administration is now trying to discover the proper way out. Senor Montt, who represented the Chillian junta for some months past, has been notified by cable of his appointment as minister to this country. After twa attempts he succeeded in getting an interview with Secretary Blaine, who declined to recogdize him as the representative of Chilli until he presented his credentials.

Mrs. Thompson, of South Carolina, wife of the Democratic member of the Civil Service Commission, has been elected president of a ladies organization, formed for the purpose of raising money by entertainments and otherwise to aid needy and disabled ex-Confederate soldiers.

Secretary Blaine has now been in Washington almost a week, but the sun rises and sets just the same as before his return. He may control the Republican party, but that is about as far as he can go, and even that is going to be disputed with him, unless all signs fail.

WORLD'S ACCIDENTS.

EARTHQUAKE IN JAPAN.

The news from a terriable earthquake in Japan has been authentitated. 10,000 lives are lost and 23,000 homes destroyed. The island of Pendo and two towns were wiped out of existence. Fire broke out in some districts and the horrors can not be conceived. The whole extent of it cannot be heard, as the telegraph wires are down in many places.

TROUBLE IN TENNESSEE.

Fresh trouble has broken out in Tennessee. The miners in the coal and iron region have carried out their threat made some time ago and released the convicts who were hired out to mine owners to compete with their labor. Over 300 convicts were released. The miners are in full possession. The Governor has taken no steps yet. The telegraph office is in hands of miners and no news can be heard from some of the miners. There will probably be other trouble yet to come before it is settled.

UNITED STATES AND CHILI.

The trouble with Chili has not yet been settled. The U. S. Government demanded in strong terms an immediate explination, investigation and repartation of the murder of the U. S. Soldiers, by the Chilian citizens and police. Chili replies: "That the government of the United States formulates demands and advances threats that, without being cast back with acrimony, are not acceptable, nor could they be accepted in the present case or in any other of like nature." It further says that until the Chilian criminal courts make an investigation, which will be in secret, it can say nothing about the the matter.

There is a chance for this to be more serious than some may think, but all see that Chili would amount to very litte in going to war with so great a power as United States.

Tabernacle Pulpit

DR. TALMAGE PREACHES ON BRICKS WITHOUT STRAWS.

Though the Pharoahs of Old Egypt Have Been Dead for Many Centuries, there are Still Many Pharoahs Who are Demanding Bricks Without Straw.

BROOKLYN, Nov. 1.—The Tabernacle was thronged as usual this morning. The vast edifice filled to its utmost capacity with eager listeners shows how the popular preacher retains his power over the people. Although he has been preaching in Brooklyn for more than twenty-four years, his audiences were never so large as now, and although the largest Protestant church in America has been built for him, there never was a time when so many persons were turned away for lack of room. The subject of this morning's sermon was "Bricks Without Straw," a continuation of the series on the confirmation of Holy Scripture which Dr. Talmage found in his journey from the Pyramids to the Acropolis. His text was Isaiah xix, 1, "The burden of Egypt."

What is all this excitement about in the streets of Cairo, Egypt, this December morning in 1889? Stand back! We hear loud voices and see the crowds of people retreating to the sides of the street. The excitement of others becomes our own excitement. Footmen come in sight. They have a rod in the hand and tasseled cap on head, and their arms and feet are bare. Their garb is black to the waist, except as threaded with gold, and the rest is white. They are clearing the way for an official dignitary in a chariot or carriage. They are swift and sometimes run thirty or forty miles at a stretch in front of an equipage. Make way! They are the fleetest footed men on earth, but soon die, for the human frame was not made for such endurance.

I asked all around me who the man in the carriage was, but no one seemed to know. Yet as I fell back with the rest to the wall I said, This is the old custom found all up and down the Bible, footmen running before the rulers, demanding obeisance, as in Genesis before Joseph's chariot the people were commanded, "Bow the knee," and as I see the swift feet of the men, followed by the swift feet of the horses, how those old words of Jeremiah rushed through my mind, "If thou hast run with the footmen and they have wearied thee, how canst thou contend with horses?"

Now, my hearers, in this course of sermons I am only serving you as footman, and clearing the way for your coming into the wonders of Egyptology, a subject that I would have you study far beyond anything that can be said in the brevity of pulpit utterance. Two hundred and eighty-nine times does the Bible refer to Egypt and the Egyptians. No wonder, for Egypt was the mother of nations. Egypt, the mother of Greece; Greece, the mother of Rome; Rome, the mother of England; England, the mother of our own land. According to that, Egypt is our great-great-grandmother.

On other Sabbaths I left you studying what they must have been in their glory; the Hypostyle hall of Karnac, the architectural miracles at Luxor, the Colonnade of Horemheb, the cemeteries of Memphis, the value of a kingdom in one monument, the Sphinx, which with lips of stone speaks loud enough to be heard across the centuries, Heliopolis and Zoan, the conundrum of archæologists. But all that extravagance of palace and temple and monument was the cause of an oppression high as heaven and deep as hell. The weight of those blocks of stone, heavier than any modern machinery could lift, came down upon the Hebrew slaves, and their blood mixed the mortar for the trowels.

THE ROUGH TASKMASTERS.

We saw again and again on and along the Nile a boss workman roughly smite a subordinate who did not please him. It is no rare occurrence to see long lines of men under heavy burdens passing by taskmasters at short distances, lashing them as they go by into greater speed, and then these workmen, exhausted with the blasting heats of the day, lying down upon the bare ground, suddenly chilled with night air, crying out in prayer: "Ya, Allah!" "Ya, Allah!" which means O God! O God! But what must have been the olden times cruelty shown by the Egyptians toward their Israelitish slaves is indicated by a picture in the Beni-Hassan tombs, where a man is held down on his face by two men and another holds up the victim's feet while the officials beat the bare back of the victim, every stroke, I have no doubt, fetching the bood.

Now you see how the Pharaohs could afford to build such costly works. It cost them nothing for wages, nothing but the tears and blood of the toilers, and tears and blood are a cheap drink for devils. "Bricks without straw" may not suggest so much hardship until you know that the bricks were usually made with "crushed straw," straw crushed by the feet of the oxen in the thrashing, and, this crushed straw denied to the workmen, they had to pick up here and there a piece of stubble or gather rushes from the waterside. This story of the Bible is confirmed by the fact that many of the brick walls of Egypt have on the lower layers brick made with straw, but the higher layers of brick made out of rough straw or rushes from the river bank, the truth of the book of Exodus thus written in the brick walls discovered by the modern explorers.

That governmental outrage has always been a characteristic of Egyptian rulers. Taxation to the point of starvation was the Egyptian rule in the Bible times as well as it is in our own time. A modern traveler gives the figures concerning the cultivation of seventeen acres, the value of the yield of the field stated in piastres:

Produce	1,888
Expense	1084
Clear produce	804
Taxes	460
Amount cleared by the farmer	344

Or, as my authority declares, seventy per cent. of what the Egyptian farmer makes is paid for taxes to the government. Now, that is not so much taxation as assassination. What think you of that, you who groan under heavy taxes in America? I have heard that in Egypt the working people have a song like this, "They starve us, they starve us, they beat us, they beat us; but there's some one above, there's some one above, who will punish them well, who will punish them well." But seventy per cent. of government tax is a mercy as compared to what the Hebrew slaves suffered there in Bible times. They got nothing but food hardly fit for a dog, and their clothing was of one rag, and their roof a burning sky by day and the stars of heaven by night.

You say, "Why did they stand it?" Because they had to stand it. You see, along back in the world's twilight, there was a famine in Canaan, and old Jacob and his sons came to Egypt for bread. The old man's boy, Joseph, was prime minister, and Joseph—I suppose the father and the brothers called him Joe, for it does not make any difference how much a boy is advanced in worldly success, his father and brothers and sisters always call him by the same name that he was called by when two years old—Joseph, by Pharaoh's permission, gave to his family, who had just arrived, the richest part of Egypt—the Westchester farms or the Lancaster farms of the ancients.

Jacob's descendants rapidly multiplied. After awhile Egypt took a turn at famine, and those descendants of Jacob, the Israelites, came to a great storehouse which Joseph had provided, and paid in money for corn. But after awhile the money gave out and then they paid in cattle. After awhile the cattle were all in possession of the government, and then the Hebrews bought corn from the government by surrendering themselves as slaves.

SLAVERY IN EGYPT.

Then began slavery in Egypt. The government owned all the Hebrews. And let modern lunatics, who in America propose handing over telegraph companies and railroads and other things to be run by government see the folly of letting government get its hand on everything. I would rather trust the people than any government the United States ever had or will have. Woe worth the day when legislators and congresses and administrations get possession of anything more than it is necessary for them to have. That would be the revival in this land of that old Egyptian tyranny for which God has never had anything but red hot thunderbolts.

But through such unwise processes Israel was enslaved in Egypt, and the long line of agonies began all up and down the Nile. Heavier and sharper fell the lash, hungrier and ghastlier grew the workmen, louder and longer went up the prayer, until three millions of the enslaved were crying: "Ya, Allah! Ya, Allah!" O God! O God!

Where was help to come from? Not the throne, Pharaoh sat upon that. Not the army, Pharaoh's officers commanded that. Not surrounding nations, Pharaoh's threat made them tremble. Not the gods Ammon and Osiris or the goddess Isis, for Pharaoh built their temples out of the groans of this diabolical servitude. But one hot day the Princess Thonoris, the daughter of Pharaoh, while in her bathing house on the banks of the Nile, has word brought her that there is a baby afloat on the river in a cradle made out of big leaves.

Of course there is excitement all up and down the banks, for an ordinary baby in an ordinary cradle attracts smiling attention, but an infant in a cradle of papyrus rocking on a river arouses not only admiration but curiosity. Who made that boat? Who made it watertight with bitumen? Who launched it? Reckless of the crocodiles who lay basking themselves in the sun, the maidens wade in and snatch up the child, and first one carries him and then another carries him, and all the way up the bank he runs a gantlet of caresses, till Thonoris rushes out of the bathing house and says: "Beautiful foundling, I will adopt you as my own. You shall yet wear the Egyptian crown and sit on the Egyptian throne."

No! No! No! He is to be the emancipator of the Hebrews. Tell it in all the brick kilns. Tell it among all those who are writhing under the lash. Tell it among all the castles of Memphis and Heliopolis and Zoan and Thebes. Before him a sea will part. On a mountain top, alone, this one will receive from the Almighty a law that is to be the foundation of all good law while the world lasts. When he is dead, God will come down on Nebo and alone bury him, no man or woman or angel worthy to attend the obsequies.

The child grows up and goes out and studies the horrors of Egyptian oppression and suppresses his indignation, for the right time has not come, although once for a minute he let fly, and when he saw a taskmaster put the whip on the back of a workman who was doing his best, and heard the poor renow cry and saw the blood spurt, Moses doubled up his fist and struck him on the temple till the cruel villain rolled over in the sand exanimate and never swung the lash again. Served him right!

GOD WITH MOSES.

But, Moses, are you going to undertake the impossibilities? You feel that you are going to free the Hebrews from bondage. But where is your army? Where is your navy? Not a sword have you, not a spear, not a chariot, not a horse. Ah! God was on his side and he has an army of his own. The snowstorms are on God's side—witness the snowbanks in which the French army of invasion were buried on their way back from Moscow. The rain is on his side—witness the 18th of June at Waterloo, when the tempest so saturated the road that the attack could not be made on Wellington's forces until eleven o'clock and he was strong enough to hold out until re-enforcements arrived.

Had that battle been opened at five o'clock in the morning instead of at eleven, the destiny of Europe would have been turned the wrong way. The heavy rain decided everything. So also are the winds and the waves on God's side—witness the Armada with one hundred and fifty ships and twenty-six hundred and fifty guns and eight thousand sailors and twenty thousand soldiers sent out by Philip II of Spain to conquer England.

What became of those men and that shipping? Ask the wind and the waves all along the English and Irish coasts. The men and the ships all wrecked or drowned or scattered. So I expect that Moses will be helped in rescuing the Israelites by a special weaponry. To the Egyptian the Nile was a deity. Its waters were then as now very delicious. It was the finest natural beverage of all the earth. We have no such love for the Hudson, and German's have no such love for the Rhine, and Russians have no such love for the Volga, as the Egyptians have love for the Nile.

But one day, when Pharaoh comes down to this river, Moses takes a stick and whips the waters, and they turn into the gore of a slaughter house, and through the sluices and fish ponds the incarnadined liquid backs up into the land, and the malodor whelms everything from mud hovel to throne room. Then came the frogs with horrible croak all over everything. Then this people, cleanly almost to fastidiousness, were infested with insects that belong to the filthy and unkempt, and the air buzzed and buzzed with flies, and then the distemper started cows to bellowing and horses to neighing and camels to groaning, as they rolled over and expired.

And then boils, one of which will put a man in wretchedness, came in clusters from the top of the head to the sole of the foot. And then the clouds dropped hail and lightning. And then locusts came in, swarms of them, worse than the grasshoppers ever were in Kansas. And then darkness dropped for three days, so that the people could not see their hand before their face, great surges of midnight covering them.

And last of all, on the night of the 18th of April, about eighteen hundred years before Christ, the destroying angel sweeps past; and hear it all night long, the flap! flap! flap! of his awful wings until Egypt rolled on, a great hearse, the eldest child dead in every Egyptian home. The eldest son of Pharaoh expired that night in the palace and all along the streets of Memphis and Heliopolis and all up and down the Nile there was a funeral wail that would have rent the fold of the unnatural darkness if it had not been impenetrable.

LED BY A TORCH FROM GOD.

The Israelitish homes, however, were untouched. But these homes were full of preparation, for now is your chance, O ye wronged Hebrews! Snatch up what pieces of food you can and to the desert! Its simoons are better than the bondage you have suffered. Its scorpions will not sting so sharply as the wrongs that have stung you all your lives. Away! The man who was cradled in the basket of papyrus on the Nile will lead you. Up! Up! This is the night of your rescue. They gather together at a signal. Alexander's armies and all the armies of olden time were led by torches on high poles, great crests of fire; and the Lord Almighty kindles a torch not held by human hands, but by omnipotent hand.

Not made out of straw or oil, but kindled out of the atmosphere, such a torch as the world never saw before and never will see again. It reached from the earth unto the heaven, a pillar of fire, that pillar practically saying: "This way! March this way!" On that supernatural flambeau more than a million refugees set their eyes. Moses and Aaron lead on. Then come the families of Israel. Then come the herds and flocks moving on across the sands to what is the beach of waters now called Bahr-el-Kulzum, but called in the Bible the Red sea. And when I dipped my hands in its blue waters the heroics of the Mosaic passage rolled over me.

After three days' march the Israelitish refugees encamped for the night on the bank of the Red sea. As the shadows begin to fall, in the distance is seen the host of Pharaoh in pursuit. There were six hundred finest war chariots followed by common chariots rolling at full speed. And the glittering of the wheels and the curse of infuriated Egyptians came down with the darkness. But the Lord opened the crystal gates of Bahr-el-Kulzum and the enslaved Israelites passed into liberty, and then the crystal gates of the sea rolled shut against the Egyptian pursuers.

It was about two o'clock in the morning when the interlocked axletrees of the Egyptian chariots could not move an inch either way. But the Red sea unfettered the horses and unhelmeted the warriors and left the proud host a wreck on the Arabian sands. Then two choruses arose, and Moses led the men in the one, and Miriam led the women in the other, and the women beat time with their feet. The record says: "All the women went out after her with timbrels and with dances. And Miriam answered them, Sing ye to the Lord, for he hath triumphed gloriously; the horse and his rider hath he thrown into the sea." What a thrilling story of endurance and victory!

The greatest triumph of Handel's genius was shown in his immortal dramatic oratorio, "Israel in Egypt." He had given to the world the oratorio of "Esther and Deborah" and Athaliah, but reserved for his mightiest exertion, at the full height of his powers, the marshaling of all musical instruments to the description in harmony of the scenes on which we this morning dwell. He gave twenty-seven days to this production, with its twenty-eight choruses, enthralling his own time and all after-time with his "Israel in Egypt."

THE BURDENS OF EGYPT.

So the burden of oppression was lifted, but another burden of Egypt is made up of deserts. Indeed, Africa is a great continent for deserts, Libyan desert, Sahara desert, deserts here and there and yonder, condemning vast regions of Africa to barrenness, one of the deserts three thousand miles long and a thousand miles wide. But all those deserts will yet be flooded, and so made fertile. De Lesseps says it can be done, and he who planned the Suez canal, which marries the Red sea and the Mediterranean, knows what he is talking about. The human race is so multiplied that it must have more cultivated land, and the world must abolish its deserts. Eight hundred millions of the human race are now living on lands not blest with rains, but dependent on irrigation, and we want by irrigation to make room for eight hundred millions more. By irrigation the prophecy will be fulfilled, and "the desert will blossom as the rose." So from Egypt the burden of sand will be lifted.

Another burden of Egypt to be lifted is the burden of Mohammedanism, although there are some good things about that religion. Its disciples must always wash before they pray, and that is five times a day. A commendable grace is cleanliness. Strong drink is positively forbidden by Mohammedanism, and though some may have seen a drunken Mohammedan, I never saw one. It is a religion of sobriety. Then they are not ashamed of their devotions. When the call for prayers is sounded from the minarets the Mohammedan immediately unrolls the rug on the ground and falls on his knees, and crowds of spectators are to him no embarrassment—reproof to many a Christian who omits his prayers if people are looking.

But Mohammedanism, with its polygamy, blights everything it touches. Mohammed, its founder, had four wives, and his followers are the enemies of good womanhood. Mohammedanism puts its curse on all Egypt, and by setting up a sinful Arab higher than the immaculate Christ, is an overwhelming blasphemy. May God help the brave and consecrated missionaries who are spending their lives in combating it.

But before I forget it I must put more emphasis upon the fact that the last outrage that resulted in the liberation of the Hebrews was their being compelled to make bricks without straw. That was the last straw that broke the camel's back. God would allow the despotism against his people to go no further. Making bricks without straw!

That oppression still goes on. Demand of your wife appropriate wardrobe and bountiful table without providing the means necessary—bricks without straw. Cities demanding in the public school faithful and successful instruction without giving the teachers competent livelihood—bricks without straw. United States government demanding of senators and congressmen at Washington full attendance to the interests of the people, but on compensation which may have done well enough when twenty-five cents went as far as a dollar now, but in these times not sufficient to preserve their influence and respectability—bricks without straw.

In many parts of the land churches demanding of pastors vigorous sermons and sympathetic service on starvation salary, sanctified Ciceros on four hundred dollars a year. Bricks without straw. That is one reason why there are so many poor bricks. In all departments, bricks not even, or bricks that crumble, or bricks that are not bricks at all. Work adequately paid for is worth more than work not paid for. More straw and then better bricks.

PHARAOHS OF TODAY.

But in all departments there are Pharaohs. Sometimes Capital a Pharaoh and sometimes Labor a Pharaoh. When Capital prospers and makes large percentage on its investment and declines to consider the needs of the operatives and treats them as so many human machines, their nerves no more than the bands on the factory wheel—then Capital is a Pharaoh. On the other hand, when workmen, not regarding the anxieties and business struggles of the firm employing them, and at a time when the firm are doing their best to meet an important contract and need all hands busy to accomplish it, at such a time to have his employees make a strike and put their employers into extreme perplexity and severe loss—then Labor becomes a Pharaoh of the worst oppression, and must look out for the judgments of God.

When in December of 1889, at the museum at Boulac, Egypt, I looked at the mummies of the Pharaohs, the very miscreants who diabolized centuries, and I saw their teeth and hair and finger nails and the flesh drawn tight over their cheek bones, the sarcophagi of these dead monarchs side by side, and I was so fascinated I could only with difficulty get away from the spot, I was not looking upon the last of the Pharaohs. All over the world old merchants playing the Pharaoh over young merchants, old lawyers playing the Pharaoh over young lawyers, old doctors playing the Pharaoh over young doctors, old artists playing the Pharaoh over young artists, old ministers playing the Pharaoh over young ministers.

Let all oppressors, whether in homes, in churches, in stores, in offices, in factories, in social life or political life, in private life or public life know that God hates oppressors, and they will all come to grief here or hereafter. Pharaoh thought he did a fine thing, a cunning thing, a decisive thing when for the complete extinction of the Hebrews in Egypt he ordered all the Hebrew boys massacred, but he did not find it so fine a thing when his own first born that night of the destroying angel dropped dead on the mosaic floor at the foot of the porphyry pillar of the palace. Let all the Pharaohs take warning. Some of the worst of them are on a small scale in households as when a man, because his arm is strong and his voice loud, dominates his poor wife into a domestic slavery.

There are thousands of such cases where the wife is a lifetime serf, her opinion disregarded, her tastes insulted, and her existence a wretchedness, though the world may not know it. It is a Pharaoh that sits at the head of that table, and a Pharaoh that tyrannizes that home. There is no more abhorrent Pharaoh than a domestic Pharaoh. There are thousands of women to whom death is passage from Egypt to Canaan, because they get rid of a cruel taskmaster.

What an accursed monster is that man who keeps his wife in dread about family expenses, and must be cautious how she introduces an article of millinery or womanly wardrobe without humiliating consultation and apology. Who is that man acting so? For six months—in order to win that woman's heart, he sent her every few days a bouquet wound with white ribbon, and an endearing couplet, and took her to concerts and theaters, and helped her into carriages as though she were a princess, and ran across the room to pick up her pocket handkerchief with the speed of an antelope, and on the marriage day promised all that the liturgy required, saying, "I will!" with an emphasis that excited the admiration of all spectators.

But now he begrudges her two cents for a postage stamp, and wonders why she rides across Brooklyn bridge, when the foot passage costs nothing. He thinks now she is awful plain, and he acts like the devil, while he thunders out: "Where did you get that new hat from? That's where my money goes. Where's my breakfast? Do you call that coffee? Didn't I tell you to sew on that button? Want to see your mother, do you? You are always going to see your mother! What are you whimpering about? Hurry up, now, and get my slippers! Where's the newspaper?" The tone, the look, the impatience—the cruelty of a Pharaoh That is what gives so many women a cowed down look. Pharaoh, you had better take your iron heel off that woman's neck, or God will help you remove your heel. She says nothing. For the sake of avoiding a scandal she keeps silent; but her tears and wrongs have gone into a record that you will have to meet as certainly as Pharaoh had to meet hail and lightning and darkness and the death angel. God never yet gave to any man the right to tyrannize a woman, and what a sneak you are to take advantage of the marriage vow, and because she cannot help herself, and under the shelter of your own home out-Pharaoh the Egyptian oppressor. There is something awfully wrong in a household where the woman is not considered of as much importance as the man. No room in this world for any more Pharaohs!

SIN HAS BEEN OUR TASKMASTER.

But it rolls over on me with great power the thought that we have all been slaves down in Egypt, and sin has been our taskmaster, and again and again we have felt its lash. But Christ has been our Moses to lead us out of bondage, and we are forever free. The Red sea of a Saviour's sacrifice rolls deep and wide between us and our aforetime bondage, and though there may be deserts yet for us to cross we are on the way to the Promised Land. Thanks be unto God for this emancipating Gospel! Come up out of Egypt, all ye who are yet enslaved. What Christ did for us he will do for you. "Exodus!" is the word. Exodus!

Instead of the brick kilns of Egypt come into the empurpled vineyards of God, where one cluster of grapes is bigger than the one that the spies brought to the Israelites by the Brook Eshcol, though that cluster was so large that it was borne "between two upon a staff."

Welcome all by sin oppressed,
Welcome to his sacred rest;
Nothing brought him from above,
Nothing but redeeming love.

As a rule merchants reduce prices after January. By that time every one who is able has made most of his winter purchases. But on account of short crops. low price of cotton, scarcity of money, etc., I have decided to reduce prices at once to give those who are in need of Clothing, Shoes and Hats a chance to buy from a full stock as cheap as they could after Christmas from a broken stock. We are bound to sell. Call and see that I mean just what I say.

LOCALS:

—How are you with your subscriptions, friends? Let us hear from you, as we are needing the money.

—We are glad to hear that Mr. V. A. Royal has moved his family and will make Clinton his future home.

—The bank office has been moved from Wm. A. Johnson's store to the second floor of the Racket Store.

—The County Sunday School Convention will meet here to-morrow. Several good speakers are down on the program.

—We were forced to leave out some contributions this week on account of the extra space given to the Fair Premiums.

—There was a mistake in last week's business locals in not having M. Hanstein's name at bottom of local on reduced prices.

—The Fair authorities are to be congratulated in appointing Dr. John A. Stevens Chief Marshal. He will make a very able and efficient officer.

—The Odd-Fellows' Lodge here received a very nice and appropriate present from Mr. J. S. Bizzell last week. It was a very handsome Bible.

—Sampson is noted for her fine Fairs. We must never go backwards. This year must be the best. Let every one do hes part and it will be so.

—Dr Frank Boyette has made a very valuable addition to his library. He has just received the complete Encyclopedia Britiunia, which is a library within itself.

—Hurrah for Clinton cotton market! Our predictions are coming true. Clinton is still paying high for cotton. As an evidence of this 110 bales were bought here Saturday.

—Only a few weeks now till the Sampson Fair. The date is November 25th. What will you bring this year? Be getting your exhibit ready, so we may have a Fair worthy of our section and our products.

—We were shown by Mr. T. C. Pope last week the old memorial service of Congress on the death of Vice-President King. It was a very rare book around here, but one of great interest to many of our old citizens.

—Dr. John A. Stevens, one of our most promising young men, was married yesterday in Wilson to Miss Lucy Herring, daughter of Dr. Needham Herring. She is a very popular and accomplished young woman, and has many warm friends here. They left for a trip of several days to Wasnington, and are expected to arrive here on Saturday. The many friends of both will join THE CAUCASIAN in tendering its best congratulations.

—Nine-tenths of the people we dislike would be our pleasant friends, did we know them better. We met them once at right angles or when we were not feeling well or an ill report of them reached us. We never tried faithfully to understand them, nor they to understand us. Have you said many a time "I like that person better than I supposed I would?" Mark the man or woman who seeks and sees something good in everybody—there goes a magnificent soul.—The Torch.

—Rev. J. C. Burruss, of Alabama, a prominent minister of the Universalist faith, preached Monday night in Odd-Fellows' Hall to a good size audience. He preached at Red Hill yesterday. He is a man of considerable learning and ability and presented the doctrine of his church with considerable force. The point he wished to establish is that all men will be punished here and in purgatory for their sins, but finally all will be saved from their sins.

Sampson Fair.

Considerable preperations are being made at the fair grounds for the approaching annual exhibit. The grounds are being enlarged and improved. The inclosure has been increased a half in size and the track enlarged and improved. New fences and new stalls being built and everything being put in order for the most elaborate and largest fair ever seen in the county. When you come to town, go over and see the improvements that are being made.

Rev. Mr. Stewart in Wilson.

The Rev. Mr. Stewart, of Clinton, filled the pulpit of the Baptist church on Sunday, and preached a good, sound, strong and most excellent sermon. He is the father of that model woman, the excellent wife of the eloquent Mr. Battle, and that alone would have given him a passport to everybody's confidence and esteem and affection.—Wilson Mirror.

Sampson County Fair.

You will find in this issue of this paper a list of Premiums offered by Society and a list of Special Premiums offered by citizens of Clinton, and Sampson county. There will be another large list of Special Premiums in next week's issue, in fact the Special Premium list we think will surpass that of any former year, we have the assurance that each department of the fair will be more complete than ever before. The lowest R R. rates will be obtained for visitors. The fair grounds have been enlarged, almost 4 acres of land has been added to old fair ground. We now have one of the best race tracks in North Carolina and no pains will be spared to make the fair complete in every particular. Hon. Jerry Rusk Secretary Agriculture, and Hon. Matt W. Ransom, have been invited to speak on Thursday and Friday Alliance day, Hon. L. T. Livingston and T. E. Watson of Georgia and Capt. Oct. Coke and Rev. G. W. Sandling have been invited, Hon. Harry Skinner will be with us both days Thursday and Friday. Nothing will be left undone to entertain the visitors. Come and feast your eyes on the fine display in every department and instructed by the best speakers in the country.

W. K. PIGFORD, President. INO. A. OATES, Secretary.

Alliance Picnic.

The Union meeting of the Clinton, Laurel Hill, Hermon and Bulah Alliances at Rowan last Friday was a many sided success. There were about 400 present with baskets, boxes and trunks well filled with the best eatings. There was an abundance of everything and plenty left over. There was nothing which mared the occasion in any respect. The audience was quiet, but very enthusiastic. Speeches were made by Hon. B. F. Grady, John Fowler Ass't., county Lecturer, Dr. G. W. Moseley and H. E Faison, Esq. The speeches were strong, conservative, and did much good.

This Union is to be a permanent thing. It will meet every three months.

The officers elected for this Union. J. R. Beaman, Sr., President; M. M Killett, Secretary.

J. L. Cluto,	Vice President.

W. E. Stevens,	" "
T. W. Britt, Chaplin,
David Marshburn, Treasurer,
F. J. Faison, Door Keeper,
L. D. Rodgers, Sergeant at-arms.

At the next meeting the following query will be discussed, "Why is money so scarce?" W. E. Stevens opens the discussion.

The committee of arrangements deserve great credit for the great success of this meeting, and especial credit to the President Mr. J. R Beaman, Sr.

Young Men's Prayer Meeting.

The Young Men's Prayer Meeting tion was organized last Sunday evening. The following officers were elected.

President, W. B. Stewart.
1st, Vice President, J. E. Royal,
2d, " " W. R. King,
Sec'ty and Treasury, Geo. Matthis,
The Executive Committee:
D. M. Partrick, Chairman, B. S Peterson, J. C. Slocumb, Robt. Pearsall and Sam Hobbs. They will meet every Sunday evening at 4 o'clock, in the Court House where all men are especially invited to attend. Next Sunday evening will be a Bible reading and be led by Mr. Peterson.

Painful Accident.

Maj T. L Pugh received a very painful hurt on last Monday. While coming from his farm he was riding on a box in a cart, the driver, a negro boy got out, and while out the horse broomed frighted and jumped and Maj. Pugh was thrown from the cart and collar bone broken. We are now glad to learn he is getting along very well, and hope he will soon be out again.

Pounding.

Rev. J. M. Ashby received a good pounding last Monday night by his congregation and citizens of Clinton. In addition to this handsome pounding he and Mrs. Ashby were presented with a very nice suit. From this and the evidences shown to other ministers in town, we see that the people of Clinton are lending a willing and helping hand to the christian work in many ways.

Married.

At the home of the bride's father, Mr. A. C. Peterson, Miss Ellie Peterson to Mr. D. T. Peterson. The attendents were: Misses Minnie Laughorn, Julia Rich, Lula Peterson, Sallie Vann, and Messrs. Parker Laughorn, Buck Rich, Jeff Peterson, D. L. Boney. It was a very pleasant affair for all present. They have our best wishes.

Teacher's Certificates.

The following certificates were granted at the last regular examination before Superintendent Royal: Misses Minnie E. Faircloth, Amanda Parker, Sue McCullen. Messrs. O. L. Matthews and George M. Matthis.

GENTLEMEN—I have suffered for years with a kind of Tetter, or breaking out all over my body, and body, and at times these small pimples would terminate in boils. While traveling in the South last year I had occasion to try a bottle of P. P. P., which was recommended to me by a friend, and to my surprise it helped me so much that I got six bottles more, and after taking the full contents, I felt better than I had since the beginning of my trouble, and while I have no symptoms of the disease returning, I am still using the wonderful blood medicine at intervals, and am fully satisfied that I will be entirely cured of a disease that for fifteen years has troubled me. I cannot express my gratitude to you for so wonderful a benefactor as your P. P. P. (Prickly Ash, Poke Root and Potassium).

I am yours truly,

It was a real pleasure to his many friends in Goldsboro to greet Rev. Dr. B. F. Marable, who went up to attend the meeting in the Presbyterian church. He assisted Friday in the services and preached a powerful sermon on "The Condition of the Sinner in the Sight of God."—Argus.

Dr. and Mrs. P. L Murphy, of the North Carolina State Hospital at Morganton, are visiting relatives in the county. The Doctor paid his respects to THE CAUCASIAN office Monday. Sampson is proud to claim such a distinguished specialist and the State is fortunate in securing his services in such an important capacity. The excellent condition and splendid record of the institution over which he presides is a high tribute to his energy, capacity and proficiency. The institution will compare favorably with any one of the kind in America.

Resolutions of Respect.

The committee appointed by the Farmers' Alliance of Oak Ridge Lodge, Sampson county, to draw up resolutions in regard to the death of Brother O. R. Royal, report the following:

Whereas, in the providence of God, our brother O. R. Royal has been removed from labor to reward which and event occurred suddenly with heart trouble at his home in Little Coharie township, Sampson county, October 25th, '91, Bro. Royal was about 45 years of age.

Resolved, That as a society we hereby express our sense of loss and sorrow at the removal of one of our charter members so zealous and active in our work.

Resolved, That we submit to the will of Him who is too wise to err and too good to do wrong.

Resolved, That we tender our sympathies to his bereaved family and commend them to the love and mercy of God, with the assurance that we feel and believe that this affliction is a manifestation of his love and not his anger.

Resolved, That these resolutions be sent to THE CLINTON CAUCASIAN for publication and recorded in our minute book.

RESOLUTIONS.

Warren County Alliance, desiring to place on record the position upon the questions of the day, and desiring to put before the world our condemnation of the methods now used by our so called friends—the enemy, do

Resolve, That we hereby affirm our allegiance to our beloved President, L. L. Polk, and desire to assure him that we have unbounded faith in him, his integrity and his love for our cause and the people.

Resolve, That we desire to assure our brethren of this our now united country, that we stand firmly on the Ocala demands, and that we will keep step with them in the arduous but glorious march before us.

Resolve, That we condemn in the strongest language the course of certain papers of this and other States, for the malignity with which they have attacked our Order—through our beloved National President and other leaders. And we hereby desire to assure them that we deem their attack on our leaders as an attack upon the Alliance.

Resolve, That we will stand by and defend our leaders in the discharge of their duties, at all time and in all places.

Resolve, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to our honored President, to The Progressive Farmer, THE CAUCASIAN and The National Economist, and a copy spread upon our minutes.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

WHY IS THE
W. L. DOUGLAS
$3 SHOE FOR GENTLEMEN
THE BEST SHOE IN THE WORLD FOR THE MONEY?

It is a conceded fact, which all who have ever tried it will admit, that the wearer will have more comfort, better fit, more style, and longer wear from a pair of $5, $4, or $3 shoes of my make than any other manufacturer. It equals hand-sewed shoes which cost from $5 to $7.

$5.00 Genuine Hand-sewed, the finest calf shoe ever offered for $5; also one pair Police Shoes, with extra heavy soles, very stylish and comfortable. The best shoe ever sold at the price, and equal to custom shoes costing from $4 to $6.

$4.00 Hand-Sewed Welt shoe, fine calf, stylish, and unsurpassed in fit and wear. The best shoe ever offered at the price.

$3.50 Police Shoes, Farmers, Railroad Men and Letter Carriers will find these shoes just the thing. Seamless, smooth inside, heavy three soles, stylish and will wear a long time.

$2.50 fine calf, no better shoe ever offered at the price. For the trial will convince those who want a shoe for comfort and wear.

$2.25 and $2.00 Workingman's shoes are very strong and durable. Those who have given them a trial will buy no other make.

Boys' $2.00 and $1.75 school shoes are worn by the boys everywhere, they sell well in their wake, as the increasing sales prove.

Ladies $3.00 Hand-sewed shoe, best in Dongola, very stylish, equals French imported shoes costing from $5.00 to $6.00.

Ladies' 2.50, $2.00 and $1.75 shoes for Misses are the best for the money they have ever worn.

W. L. DOUGLAS, Brockton, Mass.

SALEM HIGH SCHOOL,

ESTABLISHED IN 1874.

Huntley, Sampson County, N. C.

FALL TERM OPENS AUGUST 3rd, 1891.

Unequaled Advantages for Same Expense.

FIVE DEPARTMENTS:—Primary, Intermediate, Academic, Preparatory, Music. Tuition varies from $1.00 to $3.50 per month. Board in best families, near the School, everything furnished, at from $6.00 to $7.00 per month.

The School is well supplied with teachers. Music will be in charge of a competent teacher, in a separate building from the other departments of the School.

The School occupies three buildings, including the Society Hall, but the rapid growth of the School, with wide and increasing patronage, has called for an additional building, which will be erected very soon.

SPECIAL FEATURES of the School are the Young Mens' and Young Ladies' Literary Societies.
